Dear Commodore Nation,

There is no other way to begin than by saying thank you. Thank you for your unwavering support through a year of unprecedented challenges for this university and the world. As we moved to safely and responsibly resume athletic competition during a pandemic, the National Commodore Club had our backs. Even when you couldn’t be in the stands, you stood by us and supported our student-athletes. From everyone involved, thank you. We can’t wait to see you.

At Vanderbilt, we always look toward tomorrow. The standards of excellence that guide this university demand it. Even during a year that produced seemingly daily new challenges, we never stopped planning the next steps for Vanderbilt Athletics. Those efforts are why I am so excited about what awaits in 2021–22. This year isn’t just about returning to normal. It’s about continuing to move forward.

We are excited to see Clark Lea and the football team take the field at Vanderbilt Stadium, where NCC members are eligible for new premium seating in the north end zone that puts you on top of the action. We are eager to welcome fans back to Memorial Gymnasium to watch Shea Ralph lead the women’s basketball program into a new era.

In March 2021 we launched the Vandy United Fund. It wasn’t the easiest time to begin the largest undertaking of its kind in university history, but this is the right time to commit to creating the best student-athlete experience in college sports. We are excited to see those plans start to come to life this year. And we are grateful that many of you already have joined the effort.

Vanderbilt seeks young people of uncommon potential and gives them the tools to succeed. You make that possible. Your support allows us to build a better future. This year more than ever, we are grateful. And we are eager to get started.

VandyBoys reach College World Series finals
The VandyBoys reached the College World Series for the fifth time in the past decade. Pitchers Jack Leiter and Kumar Rocker were finalists for the Dick Howser Trophy and Golden Spikes Award, while Enrique Bradfield Jr. and Dominic Keegan also earned All-American honors.

Women’s soccer wins SEC championship
Among the first teams to return to competition last fall, soccer’s student-athletes didn’t let circumstances stop them from striving for excellence. The Commodores scored 14 goals while racing through four opponents, including Tennessee, to win the SEC Tournament in Alabama.

Rebecca Rossett repeats on SEC Community Service Team
A soccer champion, Rebecca Rossett also was working on a community service dynasty. Active in the Dancing Dores and Miracle Children programs, she was the only member of the SEC women’s soccer Community Service Team who earned that distinction in back-to-back seasons.

Lacrosse returns to NCAA Tournament
After celebrating the program’s 25th anniversary in 2020, lacrosse wasted no time writing a new chapter of success in 2021. The Commodores returned to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in more than a decade and came within a win of matching their best single-season total.

Men’s golf wins SEC championship
William Moll’s putt on the 18th hole at the Sea Island Golf Club in South Carolina clinched Vanderbilt’s second SEC men’s golf title in the past four seasons. And making that title a little bit sweeter was the fact that Vanderbilt eliminated Tennessee in the opening round. The Commodores went on to reach the Elite Eight in the NCAA tournament.

Christina Rosca reaches Elite Eight
One of the best women’s tennis players in school history finished her time on West End with a flourish. A two-time All-American, Christina Rosca reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA Singles Championship. She was only the fifth Commodores women’s player to advance that far.

Jack Leiter in top 10 of MLB Draft
Vanderbilt pitcher Jack Leiter was selected on night one of the 2021 MLB Draft. Leiter went second overall to the Texas Rangers. He became the 11th top-10 overall pick in the Tim Corbin era (2003–present), a mark that is more than every other program in the SEC East combined.

Indianapolis Colts call Dayo Odeyingbo
Indianapolis Colts general manager Chris Ballard has a reputation for spotting talent. He didn’t hesitate when Vanderbilt’s Odeyingbo was still on the board in the second round of this year’s NFL draft. It marked the sixth consecutive year in which a Vanderbilt player was selected.

Membership Benefits and Priority Points

Priority points provide a fair and transparent method for determining donor priority and guiding the distribution of benefits. Points are awarded for philanthropic commitment to Vanderbilt Athletics by honoring and rewarding donors’ generous financial support. Priority is assigned first by McGugin Society membership level and then by priority points within each level, followed by all active National Commodore Club members by total priority points. Active membership includes current fiscal year (July 1–June 30) donors to athletics. Donor priority is used to assign season, away game and postseason tickets and other associated NCC benefits.

1933 Society

As the most prestigious level of giving to Vanderbilt Athletics, the 1933 Society includes donors whose lifetime giving is $250,000 or more. A year of historical importance for the university’s athletics programs, 1933 marks the beginning of play in the Southeastern Conference, where Vanderbilt is a founding member school.

Sarratt Society

Sarratt Society donors understand the legacy that a planned gift creates at Vanderbilt. Planned gifts secure a strong future for our student-athletes, coaches, programs and fans, allowing Vanderbilt to plan most effectively for the days ahead. Donors who document bequests of $500,000 or more to Vanderbilt Athletics will receive special recognition.
Launched in March 2021, the Vandy United Fund is an ambitious capital campaign that will invest $300 million in Vanderbilt’s student-athletes and athletics programs through major facilities and operational enhancements.

With an initial $100 million commitment from the university, $90 million from anonymous donors and a $10 million lead gift from John R. Ingram, a Vanderbilt Board of Trust member and longtime supporter of Vanderbilt Athletics, Vanderbilt now is reaching out to the broader university community to help support the future of Vanderbilt Athletics.

The Vandy United Fund will address both student-athlete and fan needs by transforming key facilities, offering improved fan amenities, broadening opportunities for community engagement, and making Vanderbilt home to the best student-athlete experience in college sports.

These investments will include:

- Football operations center
- Indoor football practice facility
- Expanded McGugin Center
- Basketball operations center
- Upgraded stadium fan experience

"It’s been a long time coming and I’m excited to be a part of it. I have a lot of optimism for the future and how the plans are taking shape. With the university’s investment and now the momentum among donors, it’s all coming together."

— PAT EMERY, Vandy United supporter and dedicated football and men’s basketball season ticket holder

"The expansion of football operations gives us more areas to study or have bigger study sessions. I know with our schedule, sometimes it is hard traveling back and forth, and I know the creation of more space will help. Everybody is on the edge of their seat to see the new wave of Vanderbilt Athletics. We as athletes love meeting Vanderbilt Commodore fans and supporters. I know I got a taste of that amazing feeling during this year’s spring game taking pictures, signing T-shirts, getting a chance to talk to alumni."

"When you get here, you start to understand what it means when people say you’re going to be a Commodore for life. The people who support us don’t just want to see us win games. They want to make sure we have every opportunity to succeed on and off the field. We feel that. We know they aren’t just cheering for the uniforms."

"One of the coolest things about being here is there’s so much pride in the program. You can tell there is a legacy we’re trying to follow but also build on. It’s incredible. To see how much pride there is, even in the school itself, is just so cool. Vanderbilt has some high expectations, and that translates to our team. I appreciate it because it’s more than yourself. You’re more than a person on the team—you’re a student who goes to Vanderbilt University."

"It is reenergizing knowing that our team and program have the support of the community. The change in facilities is going to enhance the experience and give me every opportunity to get better every single day. The support and change that are taking place will set me up to reach my goals of succeeding on and off the field."

Black and Gold Club

The Black and Gold Club is Vanderbilt’s athletics alumni network open to all former student-athletes, spirit, student managers and student training staff. We seek to honor our alumni for their exceptional collegiate careers and dedication to Vanderbilt Athletics, while also providing unique opportunities to engage with their extended Black and Gold family.

The Black and Gold Club will share regular athletics updates and host several events and programs throughout the year, including team reunions, alumni socials, student-athlete alumni networking, career development, family days and more. But most important, understanding that our alumni are located all over the world, they will always have a home here at Vanderbilt.
