Harry Stoddard

Award Winners

Named in honor of former Smyrna Bowling Center general manager Harry Stoddard whose early enthusiasm, loyalty and hard work was instrumental in Vanderbilt bowling's success. When Stoddard was dying of cancer, Vanderbilt head coach John Williamson promised Stoddard that he would keep his name and spirit alive with the bowling program by creating the Harry Stoddard Award — it is the Commodores' only award and it is decided as a result of a team vote.

VANDERBILT BOWLING

HEAD COACH JOHN WILLIAMSON

John Williamson began Vanderbilt's bowling program in 2004 by combining a club team with his guiding vision of excellence and over 18 years has transformed Commodore bowling into one of the nation's finest.

Williamson has guided the Commodores to two NCAA championships, three runner-up finishes and three Southland Bowling League. He emphasizes winning both ways — on the lanes and in the classroom. While his approach is definitely team first, many individual Commodores have earned success on national and international stages.

Vanderbilt has had a nation-leading 15 First-Team All-Americans and seven NTCA Rookies of the Year under Williamson's watch.

Some of the sport's greatest stars have worn the Vanderbilt black and gold. Maria Bulanova, Josie Earnest Barnes, Brittni Hamilton LeGeorge, Michelle Peloquin Scherrer, Robyn Renslow, Jessica Earnest and Giselle Poss enjoyed dominant Commodore careers.

One of Williamson's all-around superstars was Kristin Quah, a three-time All-American who in 2019 became the only Vanderbilt student-athlete to receive the coveted NCAA Top 10 Award for her combination of athletic excellence while having a near-perfect academic record in biomedical and electrical engineering coupled with community service.

Quah was also honored as the Southeastern Conference's McWhorter Award presented to the top student-athlete in the SEC. Vanderbilt's program has multiple members on the NCTA and Vanderbilt academic honor rolls every season.

In 2022 at the International Bowling Federation's Under 21 World Championships, three of the four Team USA members were Vanderbilt Commodores.

It's more than bowling and academics at Vanderbilt under Williamson. The department has an innovative international travel program and Williamson has encouraged individuals to participate. He has led team travels to France, Italy and Australia over the years with the entire roster while individuals have taken service trips to places such as Morocco, Tanzania, Costa Rica and Cuba.

Additionally, Williamson arranges his tournament travel to allow for brief side trips to historical places such as Gettysburg, the Texas Book Depository, One World Trade Center and Philadelphia's Independence Park to name a few.

Williamson also encourages community service. The program annually has supported an effort to promote jobs for special needs adults into the local hotel and restaurant industries.

The success by Williamson has been recognized in a number of ways, including being named Vanderbilt's Coach of the Year in 2006 and 2018. The program has won more than 70 percent of its matches since the humble beginnings of a 12-69 first season.

Prior to his service as Vanderbilt baseball head coach Tim Corbin's operations assistant with Vandy's baseball team in 2003-2004, Williamson was briefly in Vanderbilt's athletic development office.

Williamson is a native of Franklin, Tennessee, and a graduate of the University of Mississippi. He was a member of the Ole Miss football team for two seasons after earning all-state football and all-district baseball honors at Nashville's Franklin Road Academy where he is a member of its Athletic Hall of Fame.

He and his wife Melissa reside in Franklin with their four boys: Landon, Eli, Gabe and Tucker Jay.
